has an impressive record and I will always be grateful to Tom and Nioma for presenting her so beautifully.

Michelle was the second to finish and it was another one hundred dollar bill for Nioma. Michelle is smaller than either Tess or Taylor. She has the bi-factored color with more black in the top coat and less red in the sable undercoat. She has balanced, sound, solid structure but is not overdone. She doesn't have the head detail of her sisters but moves effortlessly. When Nioma finished grooming her with that special talent she has, Michelle looked very lovely. She finished with three Majors in a very short time as she was spotted time and again by movement judges. She came home and was bred to Ch. Connemara's Shortstop and whelped two females. One was really too small and the other I had every intention of keeping, but Becky Cram got to me in a weak moment as she had years before with a bitch called Sunnybrook Abby Of Cindahope. Becky named her puppy Sunnybrook's Cindahope Sin-D. She is being shown now in the Carolina area and will be shown this summer in New England.

Taylor was the last of the sisters to finish but did so quickly once Tom and Nioma got their hands on her. Her first win in 1990 was a RWB at the Tidewater Specialty, followed by BOWs at three four-point shows. That, and the three points she already had, finished her. The next day, she was bumped up and took Group 1 and that was only five shows. Now that's the way to do it! Taylor has a beautiful, profuse sable coat with a full white collar that sets off her elegant, balanced body lines. She has detail of profile with full round muzzle and deep underjaw. She excels in outline and balanced angulation front and rear.

The year before Taylor finished, she was bred to Ch. Ventura's New Attitude, owned by Martha Heckman. I was owed a puppy back and took a bitch we named Cindahope Picture Perfect “Kissy,” who finished at an early age. She too, has an impressive record. As of the end of July, Kissy has 2 Bests in Show, 51 Bests of Breed, 3 Specialty Bests of Breed, and her
